FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1864.

OUR JUNE MONTHLIES

The River Plate Magazine is hardly up to the level, in this number. The chapters of Argentine History, transla ted from Dominguez are readable. The same may be said of Recollections of Tacuman translated from Dr. N. Viola; and the Quarumbi Indians, a treatise by Snr Trelles. Commerce with Polivia is an article by Snr San Martin. Dr. De Mousay's work contains an interesting chapter on B. Ayres in 1804, which is reproduced by Mr Bliss but the latter less fullen into some errors; among others he states that there are Spanish and Italian daily papers, in B. Ayres. He estimates the city population at 200,000 souls, whereas the last census gave only 95,000. Zoo or the Gipsy girl's revenge (canto II) occupies 9 pages.—Mr. Lewis has a paper on the Press which is worthy of Cornhill or Blackwood, and gives a most faithful picture of journalism in this city. The last two being the only original articles in this number, we fancy the editors and contributors have been rather slack, and as it is now purposed to publish the Magazine twice a month, we would remind them that the public requires something more than translations.

No. 14 of the Revista de Buenos Ayres is well got up. The episode of General San Martin's retreat from Peru is apropos of the present time, and graphically described by General Guido. Dr. Quesada's Chronicle of our Convent of San Francis, throws much historical light on that ancient monastic institution. Naval campaigns of Independence, by D. Anjel Carranza, contain many instances of heroism by English volunteers in aid of the patriot arms. D. Luis Dominguez (the accomplished author of Historia Argentina, and actual Minister of Finance for this province) renders a magnanimous tribute to the veteran Guido, showing that he was the proposer of General San Martin's expedition across the Andes to liberate Chile and Peru, as stated last Sunday by Captain Lacasa, at the meeting. The Biography of Dr. Valentin Gomez, will be interesting to these Argentines dedicated to the study of Jurisprudence. An original story, by Snr. Rivet Gaina, bears the title 'Pago de Deudas,' which may be instructive to Civalleri's creditors, as also a Treatise on Bankruptcy, contributed by one commercial Judge, Dr. Pinedo. Dr. Viola reviews a drama, called Lucia de Miranda, by an Argentine poet; and Snr. Lamas, who is his opinion of 'Atar-Gull' Mme. Gorriti, of Lima, contributes a biblical legend, and concludes the present respectable volume, of 100 pages of diversified interest.

The Medical Review (in Spanish) is as usual highly scientific, and will be read with interest by our friends of the faculty; but the Hospital returns are intelligible to all, and show that in spite of the yellow fever, which is Brazilian institutions, the native hospital patients are two-thirds foreigners, cared and attended gratis, at the expense of a benevolent public.

D. Marcos Sastre has published a second series of Reading Lessons, composed of short narratives, poetical extracts, &c. This gentleman imitates the Christian Brothers in his efforts for youthful education, having already published 14 didactic works.

A NEW CLASS of IMMIGRANTS

Every European who lands upon our shores is a gain to the country, bringing a contingent of intellect and force to develop its resources; but he is a double boon, who adds to the qualifications of head and muscle a well lined purse. Hitherto most immigrants have come hither to earn a fortune, not invest one: but it is now a cheering indication of the confidence reposed in this country and in the stability of Gen. Mitre's Government, that, of late, every packet brings us half-a dozen English or Irish gentlemen with capitals ranging from £500 to 6000, to invest in land and sheep farming. The French, Italian, or Spanish immigrants are of the same class as usual, men for the most part who had scarcely heard of B. Ayres, before embarking for La Plata. Anglo-Irish are now becomers of more liberal education and have been enticed to this country, by the new enterprises and favorable reports which they have seen in the newspapers. This class is evidently on the increase; as soon as the Central Argentine and Great Southern railways be in full play we may expect to see hundreds of capitalists and land speculators over-running the republic from Fraylo Muerto to Dolores, and eventually seeking out those lands in Santiago sold at 30 shillings per sq. league (5,500 acres) in perpetuity. Nothing daunts a land jobber: he will cut up the provinces of San Luis and Cordoba into kitchen-gardens, in spite of Indians as he has done Arkansas and Western Canada. He wants no frontier pieces: give him only a railway and he will convert Sahara into an Eden.

We have received from an agency arriving with smaller or larger capitals are greatly at a loss to know where to turn. If they come to the "Standard" office we give them to beside a hearty consmilia faitha, all the information in our limited capacity. They may pick up a bargain in the line of land from a friendly grocer, or meet some disinte rested party who has a friend most anxious to sell out a farm possessing so many desirable advantages that is no less a pity to deprive him of it, than a wonder that he seeks to part with the same.

Still there is no inviting agency office, with sherry and cold ham on the table, and neatly bound ledgers and indexes on the shelves, where all requisite and, unimaginable places on the walls, and an attentive, intelligent broker who can suit you to a dollar in the smallest intricacies of your man's legacy. Now we make bold to say that such an office is much wanted. Shipbroking, auctioneering, and commission agency are overdone—why not try this new line of business?

We have a word also for the estancieros, many of whom might increase their annual receipts by a couple of hundred pounds sterling, if they wished. A friend of ours in England, who has property in the Province Buenos Ayres, assures us that he has had several dozen applications from fathers of families desirous of sending their sons over here to learn sheepfarming: they would gladly pay £100 to any farmer who would take them for a year, employing them in the sheep line, and treating them as members of the family. If the suggestion is worth notice, we beg our countrymen to advertise in our columns which they will take appreciative on such terms.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The 'Tribuna' has at last been obliged to take a hint from the 'Standard.' We perceive that they now call every thing by its right name, instead of crowding all the news of the day into their 'Mesa de la Redaccion,' and making a real bona fide 'editor's table,' or chapter of news, we find that the 'editor's table' of the 'Tribuna' has not one word of local news. We hope the talented editor of the 'Tribuna' will improve his 'editor's to le,' and make it an interesting epitome of current events.

We read in the 'Reforma,' that some of the members of the Revolutionary Committee in Buenos Ayres set to work after day to-day meeting, in order to see Flores and induce him to refuse peace on any terms. These anti-peace gentlemen landed, but fortunately could not get near Flores, owing to the proximity of the Government troops; they, however, despatched a 'chasque,' telling Flores where they were, and to come quick, but having waited for a considerable time, and finding that there was no possible way to get nearer to Flores, they returned to Buenos Ayres. We ask our readers can anything justify such conduct? Now that there is a probability of peace, these Oriental Marxini's are nutiring in their efforts to cause the revolution to last.

Sr. Marmol, it seems, has been very successful in Rio Janeyro. If we are to believe report, the Emperor of Brazil is favorable to the suggestion of Mitre of Spain, and declares his intention to side with the South American Republics in the dispute. The success which attended other matters of his mission, we hear, has not been so complete as was expected.

We regret to say, that through the incautious use of charcoal in a 'brasero,' one of our countrywomen was all but asphixiated the other night. It appears that the girl in question had only recently arrived in this country, and was utterly ignorant of the danger of charcoal. She put a brazero in her bedroom, in order to warm her feet, and went to bed leaving the charcoal lighting. It was all but dead the next morning. We hope this will be a warning to all persons who are incautiously use charcoal.

The Northern Railway, we hear, to Zarate, having Campana considerably to the right. The Provincial Government, it appears, is willing to extend the guarantee, and give every assistance to the prolongation.

A gentleman, who lives near the Once de Setiembre, has called upon us to say that a most unsatisfactory meeting should be called, on behalf of the residents of that part of the town, as 'Admiral Mitre' is nuisancing the place. Whole streets are impassable. Where is the Municipality?

We hear of another case similar to that of the poisoning of cattle caused by the failure of Civalleri, where an English estanciero sold his wool to a certain firm and received £20,000 in part payment. The wool was weighed, delivered, and even baled in the purchaser's barrack, when, lo, failed. The Courts decided that the Englishman could follow the wool and take it, refunding to the estate the amount paid on account, which he did, and accordingly got back his wool.

No news at all about the balloon: every one is asking what has become of it. The general impression is that it has gone off 'on its own hook' to Peru, being unwilling to wait until Mr. Wells and the Municipality came to terms. Meanwhile, according to one of our Spanish colleagues, there is a slight misunderstanding between the city fathers and Mr. Wells, about what the lawyers term a 'specific performance,' and although Mr. Wells has gone up the Municipality won't come down with the dust.

Yesterday a gentlemen from Maron called on us for cotton seed to plant in Maron. We have a field of cotton already planted some last year, which came up beautifully, and gave excellent cotton.

An English gentleman from Peru has sent us samples of the cotton grown there, and promises to send us five or six quintals per return steamer.

The steamer Magdalena is unable to leave port on Wednesday evening, owing to the low water: We suppose she will leave to-day, if not already gone. The Rosario packet is also delayed, although by some mistake we have Messrs. Stolterfoht's circular marked "Packet sails 30th April."

Mr. Wells was to see President Mitre yesterday, about getting public support for his great balloon project of going over to Chile, but as the Opera Co. Mr. Wells intends giving a separate performance of phantasmagoria in the balloon car, not appreciated the other evening, because the audience mistook the shadow thrown on the stage curtain for the figure itself. The decision was, that Mr. Wells and the Lelmi run his sword through the shadow, to convince the public, we have no doubt the house would have rung with applause. Mr. Wells's sword, it was a live scene-shifter with a stir ig light thrown on his face.

The French paper mentions some circumstances connected with the suicide of the bankrupt Civallert, who blew his brains out, instead of cutting the carotid artery as was first reported.

The late accident in the Northern Railway occurred not to an engine driver, but to the inspector of the engine department, who was getting on the train while in motion. His foot was miraculously saved by a person who caught him round the waist, and ran along with the train until it stopped. Others say he was thrown down and run under and killed. Since the amputation of the leg, he is going on well.

FURTHER NEWS OF PERU AND CHILE

The 'Peato-carril' of Rosario, 11th gives the following news received by diligence from Mendoza with date Peru May 4th and Chile 14th.

Up to the present it was not thought expedient to make public the preparations undertaken by Government to repel the invaders. Meantime great efforts were made to fortify Callao: a battery was mounted on the N. side of the city, another on the wharf, and a third at the old fort of Sta Rosa, while a fourth is about to be erected at the Punta. The names of the four are as follows: Ayacucho, Junin, Zepita and Pichincha. The steel clad Monitor is in course of construction, and will be finished in about three weeks, when she will be sent to try the metal of the Spanish vessels.

The Nat. Guard artillery brigade will make its first parade to morrow, on the Alameda. Last night the rumor ran that the two Spanish frigates were at the Chincha islands, but one of them so drawn up towards shore is so as to be invisible, hoping, perhaps, to make our vessels fall into an ambuscade. If it be true, as stated yesterday, that the Spanish war steamer Covadonga has gone northwards for supplies, it would be well for our fleet to pursue and take her, as she is of immense service to Admiral Pinzon.

The Chilian papers state that great preparations were being made at Lima and Callao to receive Marshal Castilla on the 28th inst., and it was supposed Pezet would be deposed from the Presidency to make room for the former. The English frigate Leander having approached the island, the Spanish frigate Triunfo ran out her guns and prepared for action, signalling by a conference rocket to the steamer on the opposite side of the island, but as soon as the Union-jack was recognized, all was again quiet. The Leander on rounding the island found the Resolucion anchored in a cove which defied investigation. It is clear that the Spaniards are not to be taken by surprise. The Leander arrived at Callao on the evening of May 2d. The Resolucion and Covadonga were afterwards reported cruising southwards by the Puntas de Pojeri.

A Chilian paper states that Admiral Pinzon pordered one of his prisoners to take off the Peruvian epaulets, as "they were only the insignia of rebels." To which the latter replied that "he had received them from a nation which had several times whipped the Spaniards, and would do so again." This is probably a yarn.

At the meeting in Santiago a number of Chilian notables declared, at the foot of Gen. Bulnes's statue, that the population to aid Peru. Another meeting was held in the Municipal theatre, and among the speakers was Snr. Benjamin Vicuna, son-in-law to the late renowned Irish hero of Independence, General O'Brien.

The Spaniards in Peru have prevailed on Admiral Pinzon to release the Peruvian officers whom he had in hostages for their safety.

THE ROSARIO MAILS.

The committee of the Central Argentine Railway are indefatigable in getting subscribers to the stock, and their efforts are eminently successful, having already allotted 947 shares in Rosario alone, and it is expected this number will be much increased, if not doubled, the deposit (12½ hard dollars) being paid up, or a bill accepted at 3 days. The largest subscriptions are—Maua 60; Zubelta 40, Corvalan 40; the editor of the 'Ferro-carril' (Perkins) has taken 12. This shows great spirit on the part of our riverine friends.

There is no news from the provinces, except some explanations touching the row in the 'Zonda' printing-office at San Juan.

The Spanish Dramatic Company is working (as the Spaniards say) at the Rosario theatre with great success. We are on nodding terms with one gentleman or another, for 'calling him a scoundrel,' alleging as a reason the confidence which existed between them, and notwithstanding the blow that underwent the aggrieved party remains in possession of his good name.

EXODUS OF THE CAUCASIANS

A letter from our Correspondent at Constantinople gives an account of a calamity to a whole people which our pasaes even the terrible tragedies with which the last two years have made us familiar in Poland, America, or Denmark. The whole independent Circassian nation have been driven from their country, and are taking refuge in Turkey. The Russo-asiatic army, which on the Turkish shores of the Black Sea. A few small independent tribes have been maintaining the desperate struggle with the whole force of the Russian Empire; the invincible Circassian hope has not been delayed by the display of extraordinary bravery, determination, and fanaticism; and it has fallen at last in proportions which transcend all imagination and for the time overpower all resources. The Russian armies have been gradually closing in upon the unfortunate Circassians, and it seems to have been anticipated that if they were conquered they would not remain under Russian rule, but endeavour to obtain shelter and protection under the Sultan, who is the principal monarch of their faith. The Russians, perhaps, looked with satisfaction on getting rid of tribes whose warlike propensities would always be a trouble to them, and whose religion would effectually prevent their forming amalgamation with the Empire of Russia. They applied, therefore, some time ago, to the Turkish Government to ask whether it would be willing to receive these fugitives if they came. The Turks acceded to the request, upon the condition, however, that the emigration took place gradually and did not commence till the time season had set in. The number who were expected to arrive under these circumstances was 140,000 or 50,000. Even this would be as much as a large army, and it was evident that any considerable body to stipulate that even this number should only come gradually.

The immigrants, however, with whose multitudes Asia Minor is now being overwhelmed reach in reality the enormous number of 300,000 persons. All that can escape of men, women, and children appear to be hovering on the Circassian coast of the Euxine, and catching at every opportunity to pour over in shiploads into Asiatic Trebizond. Their last stronghold has just been taken, and the whole population, consisting of three tribes, have abandoned their old homes in a state of fusion and despair, and seem to prefer any miseries to remaining under the Russian yoke. Misery is unspeakable. It must be a feeling of extraordinary aversion and of the deepest hatred which can impel them like one man to brave deliberately the misery of such an exodus. In the first place, they are congregating to the seaboard in places where there is no provision whatever for their shelter, and they have to linger in complete destitution until they can find a chance passage in a foreign vessel, which is almost always a vice. It is, indeed, no shame to any one if no supply of transport can be found sufficient for the occasion. Every little coasting vessel seems to have been seized upon, and the unfortunate emigrants crowd upon every craft that offers, and pay any price that is asked to defy any precautions for health or safety. The consequence is that a few days' sail seems to concentrate all the horrors of a slave-ship's Middle Passage. Out of 600 of these unhappy beings only 370 survived after a four or five days' sail. We must suffer the pangs of childbirth in the midst of with scarce clothes for themselves and none for their wo. ched infants, and the young men lie thick upon the open exposed decks. Those, again, who survive the sea passage land to meet almost equal sufferings; and, to judge by the accounts already descriptive, it must be almost better to linger destitute on the shores of the Caucasus than to be murdered with disease in the Turkish town. There is no accommodation whatever for them on their arrival, and they only crowd together to provide diseases and to create a famine.

The Turkish Government are behaving with extraordinary spirit and energy and a spirit which does them great credit. The first thing to be done, of course, is to provide private transport, and to get the miserable exiles removed from their miserable destitution on the Circassian shore. Congregated as they are now, either without shelter and with bare food, there is danger of positive violence breaking out among them. The Sultans have been asked to open their ports for their departure, and so to save them waiting on the open beach for a coasting vessel; and it will be hard if they do not refuse this poor consolation to a people whom they have trampled on with customary thoroughness for a most questionable purpose. Next to this comes the provision for them on their arrival in Turkey, and this is for the moment a difficult a problem as the other. It appears that it will cost the Turkish finances no less a sum than a million sterling to provide for the permanent establishment of the immigrants. There ought, however, ultimately to be no difficulty in usefully dispersing 300,000 men over the Turkish Empire in Asia. There are vast plains of fertile land in Asia Minor and some other portions of the Asiatic Empire that are practically uncultivated for want of labour, and the rapid development of the resources of the empire in the Turkish dominions offers another large source of employment. Additional hands are wanted more than anything else to forward the cotton trade in Turkey. Moreover, the Government is wisely turning such a brave and warlike body of men to use. Omar Pasha has sent out Ali Pasha with the object of obtaining 20,000 recruits from them for the Turkish army. Ali Pasha is himself of Circassian origin, and is said th have great influence with the immigrants.—London Times.

MASSACRE AT FORT PILLOW.

Additional Particulars of the Barbarities Perpetrated.

The Illinois 'State Journal' has the following particulars of the massacre, from an officer on board a gunboat which accompanied the transport Platte Valley to Fort Pillow under a flag of truce:—

Thirty-six white men and twenty-one colored were the remnant left of 600 troops, saving the 40 prisoners taken away. The attack was made just before daylight on Tuesday—the fort being by nearly 300 white men (13th Tennessee Cavalry) and the rest black (6th United States Artillery. seen in the fort, and other evidences of the brutality and fiendish barbarities perpetrated by the murderers of Fort Pillow. Claimers states that Forrest was back on the hill—if so, he was probably wounded, as he did not show himself. Generals Lee and Faulkner were with Chalmers.

The massacre stands without a parallel—words can give no adequate idea of the blood and destruction. Evermore the place will be held in horror, and known as the spot where the blackest deed of the war recorded itself.

THE BOMBAY

Her Majesty's steamship Bombay, lying for some time past as Gillingham, is under orders to make her trial trip to-day, before leaving for the westward, where she is to embark Rear-Admiral the Hon. C. G. J. B. Elliot, C.B., as the new commander in chief for the South-east of America. We are sorry to find that small pox has shown itself on board this ship. Two cases sent to hospital at Chatham from the hulk, before the ships company "turned over," have been returned within the last few days as cured. Since their going on board the ship two fresh cases have broken out, and have been sent to the hospital. It is, therefore, to be hoped that the authorities will not allow the Bombay to leave England with such a station while there is any doubt of disease existing on board.

The great topic on change to-day was the Civalleri failure, and the flour question. Several native bill discounters have been let for a large amount. Notwithstanding the statement made out at the first meeting, it is asserted that the estate will not pay over 20 per cent.

There was a good deal done in exchange to-day on England, and rates seem falling. About £30,000 was sold at 50d. We learn that the River Plate Bank is drawing at 49½d.

Business in a present rather dull Importers are beginning to be very particular as to whom they sell. Exporters can but little profit on the Dry hides, or in fact anything, to the States at present are dangerous, owing to the premium on gold, the enormous rate of exchange and the prospect of new duties. In our money market there is a feverish feeling, and the probabilities are that the banks will have to raise the rates of interest on both paper and gold. Notwithstanding the number of drawers, exchange appears to be going down.

We hear that the Maua Bank will shortly open a branch bank in Guadayuvha, which is the largest and most important town in that province. We have no doubt that it will be found of the greatest convenience to the place.
